

SAVE
THE DATE

SAVE
THE DATE

PRELIMINARY SCIENTIFIC TOPICS AND FACULTY:

- Autologous stem cell transplantation in Scleroderma: what have we learnt so far? – Jörg Henes
- Hot topics in the management of rheumatoid arthritis – Eric Matteson
- Update on diagnosis and management of large vessel vasculitis – Eric Matteson
- Renal pathology for the practicing clinician – Sanjeev Sethi
- Membranoproliferative glomerulonephritis – practical implications of recent discoveries – Sanjeev Sethi
- Membranous nephropathy – a recent paradigm shift – Fernando C. Fervenza
- Lupus nephritis – trials and tribulations – Fernando C. Fervenza
- Polycystic kidney disease: from bench to bedside – Vincente Torres
- Management of refractory autoimmune diseases: the role of anti-myeloma therapies – Nelson Leung
- Ophthalmology of autoimmune disease – James Garrity
- CPC format case discussions with faculty (local residents present local cases – “stump the chumps”)

For further information please visit:
www.vaskulitiszentrum-sued.de

Organization and registration:
Kreiskliniken Esslingen gGmbH Akademie | akademie@kk-es.de
Phone +49 7021 8844-800 | Fax +49 7021 8844-809
<http://akademie.kk-es.de/autoimmune-conference-2017>

MULTIDISCIPLINARY APPROACH TO SYSTEMIC AUTOIMMUNE DISEASE

Vaskulitiszentrum-Süd
Kirchheim/Teck
Germany
May 5 – May 7, 2017

The Vaskulitiszentrum Süd Tübingen-Kirchheim, Germany and Mayo Clinic, USA are pleased to announce a unique 2 ½-day conference for clinicians, researchers and trainees with a common interest in the aetiology, diagnosis and management of multi-system disorders. The conference will be held on the Klinik Kirchheim campus in Kirchheim/Teck close to Stuttgart on May 5th, 2017. We invite students, trainees, researchers, consultant physicians/ surgeons /pathologists and other health professionals with an interest in multi-system diseases including vasculitis, interstitial lung diseases, collagen vascular diseases, and inflammatory ophthalmic and renal disease to attend. Emphasis will be on cross-discipline collaboration in advancing the field.

COURSE DIRECTORS

Ulrich Specks

Connor Group Foundation Professor of Medicine, Chair, Division of Pulmonary & Critical Care Medicine, Mayo Clinic College of Medicine, Rochester, MN, USA

Jörg Henes

PD Dr. med., Section Chair Rheumatology, Medizinische Klinik II, Universitätsklinikum Tübingen, Tübingen, Germany

Bernhard Hellmich

Prof. Dr. med., Chair, Klinik für Innere Medizin, Rheumatologie und Immunologie, Vaskulitiszentrum Süd, Klinik Kirchheim, Akademisches Lehrkrankenhaus Universität Tübingen, Kirchheim/Teck, Germany

For further information please visit:
www.vaskulitiszentrum-sued.de

PRELIMINARY SCIENTIFIC TOPICS AND FACULTY:

- Interstitial lung disease (ILD): terminology, pattern recognition and their practical implications – Andrew H. Limper
- Management of IPF: trial results and daily practice – Andrew H. Limper
- Pneumocystis pneumonia – what everybody needs to know about it – Andrew H. Limper
- Connective tissue disorder associated ILD: RA, scleroderma, PM/DM – Eric Matteson
- Acute management of diffuse alveolar hemorrhage – Ulrich Specks
- Treatment of ANCA-associated vasculitis in 2017 – Ulrich Specks
- Lessons from the RAVE trial – beyond the headlines – Ulrich Specks
- ANCA diagnostics: state of the art – Elena Csernok
- Eosinophilia, asthma and systemic disease: clues for differential diagnosis and treatment – Bernhard Hellmich
- What's new in treating patients with Behcet's disease – Theo Xenitidis
- Diagnosis and management of polymyositis/dermatomyositis/ anti-synthetase syndrome – Steve Ytterberg
- What's new in the management of scleroderma – Steve Ytterberg